

The Church of the Larger Fellowship (CLF)

our UU congregation by mail and cyberspace offers its members multiple resources, including Between Sundays

What is Between Sundays?

Between Sundays is a website designed to help parents and other adults answer religious questions raised by children and youth. What does it mean to be a Unitarian Universalist and how do our/your religious beliefs make a difference in the world? These are the two basic questions underlying the thematic presentation of questions and “answers” on this site. Lessons and activities to address specific questions at different ages are adapted from curricula published by the UUA, by independent authors, and by the Church of the Larger Fellowship. Some lessons and activities are suggested for a single age level; others are recommended for all ages.

You can browse the site by age level or subject category or search by key words. The categories are those used in curriculum development by the UUA’s Lifespan Faith Development Department. In addition, a Resources section provides informative material just for adults using the site. Don’t be concerned about your own level of knowledge or depth of personal understanding. Learn along with the children, explore religious concepts together—model the “search for truth and meaning” in an open and loving environment.

Why should you join the CLF?

The web page for Between Sundays is one of many resources available at the Church of the Larger Fellowship. Your CLF membership offers you UU spirituality, education, and resources 24/7, while at the same time your membership brings Unitarian Universalism to isolated UUs all over the world.
