One Thing Going On

Association Sunday 2011 - Join Us!

Congregations throughout the country will celebrate the fifth annual Association Sunday on Sunday, October 2, and additional Sundays throughout the year. Association Sunday is an opportunity to strengthen connections among congregations and with the Association. If you haven't already, sign up to participate today!

This year's theme is "Excellence in Ministries." Funds raised from special collections in participating congregations will benefit the UUA, UUMA, UUMN, and LREDA to support the continuing education and collaboration of our religious professionals. In addition to a generous lead gift of $10,000 from the executive committees of these partner organizations, the UUMA, UUMN, and LREDA have also sent a joint letter to their members in support of Association Sunday 2011. This historic partnership reminds us that "we are better together."

For more information about Association Sunday, including exciting new organizing and worship resources and a video message from UUA President Peter Morales, please visit the Association Sunday webpage.

One Useful Tool

A New Campus Ministry "How To"

We've just created a comprehensive and detailed guide to walk you and your congregation step-by-step through the processes of building, starting and sustaining a campus ministry group.

Being More Visible, Changing More Lives: A UU Campus Ministry Group Handbook for Congregations is intended for anyone in a congregation who wants to be involved in campus ministry, and will teach the skills to make a group vibrant and sustainable. You might be the midwife -- someone who begins the movement and creates a healthy environment for the to-be-determined leadership to take over. You might be interested in assisting on smaller projects, or you might be the principle leader of the campus ministry group. Whoever you are in the process of establishing or sustaining a campus ministry, this resource can assist you in your endeavors.

Please contact Kayla Parker, Campus Ministry Associate, about your existing or emerging campus ministry at ya-cm@uua.org. She'd love to talk with you!
