

One and One

One Thing Going On

BLINK

On behalf of Goody Clancy, the UUA architects for our new headquarters offices at 24 Farnsworth Street in Boston, I'm thrilled to share with you a "blink" exercise in the form of a Survey Monkey questionnaire.

Goody Clancy designed the "blink" exercise to help gather information on how we want our new headquarters space to feel. As constituents of the UUA, we'd welcome your input on things. Note that none of the images are actual choices. They're meant to represent and suggest ideas, concepts, colors, shapes, and moods.

The "blink" exercise will take you about 20 minutes to complete. Offer your immediate, gut reaction to each image. Do you love it or do you hate it? Or do you fall somewhere in between? There are even spaces in the survey for comments should you feel inclined. The link is live through the end of July.

Have fun! Don't overanalyze. Imagine.

UUA Blink Exercise

One Useful Tool

Share Your UU Identity

As you travel about this summer, or even if you are staying home, we've got UU swag to carry and wear! The UUA Bookstore has many new and exciting ways to show and share your UU identity. In addition to our expanding line of jewelry we also have mugs, T-shirts, magnets, and more.

See our full lineup by visiting the UUA Bookstore online.